

blog 08/29/1998 : #boyhood #summer #adolescence #blue #freedom a time when the last ray of innocence shines through a time to grow up and still stay young a time to try and fall in love with everything we wish for what is forbidden to us just want to escape from boredom we use clever tricks to cause trouble and chase freedom but become fools in the face of love always silly and immature reckless and pretentious absolutely no fear

but confused when alone our youth shine brighter with the summer breeze that cools our heated souls